

Guido Barbujani

Guido Barbujani has worked at the Universities of Padua and Bologna, the State University of New York at Stony Brook, and Queen Mary College, London. He is now professor of Genetics at the University of Ferrara, Italy. His current research focuses on human diversity, molecular evolution, and the DNA of both early humans, and the Etruscan and Nuragic Sardinian Bronze Age populations.